UK General Election
Parliamentary Candidate
Pledge for Protection:
Safeguarding Adolescents and Upholding Women's Rights

As a parliamentary candidate, I commit to the following principles and actions to ensure the protection of vulnerable adolescents and the upholding of women's rights:

1. Repeal the Gender Recognition Act
   ○ Commitment: I pledge to advocate for and support the full repeal of the Gender Recognition Act, restoring the recognition of sex based on biological reality and ensuring clarity in legal definitions.

2. Remove 'Gender Reassignment' from the Equality Act
   ○ Commitment: I pledge to work towards the removal of 'gender reassignment' as a protected characteristic from the Equality Act, ensuring that protections are based on immutable biological sex rather than self-definition.

3. Reclassify Gender Medicine as Elective and Cosmetic
   ○ Commitment: I pledge to support the reclassification of gender medicine, including hormone treatments and surgeries, as elective and cosmetic procedures. This will ensure these treatments are less likely to be given to vulnerable persons and are not funded or promoted as essential healthcare.

4. Implement Cass Review Recommendations
   ○ Commitment: I pledge to actively promote the full implementation of the Cass Review recommendations to ensure safe, evidence-based, and ethical approaches to transgender ideation in young people. This includes thorough mental health assessments and support rather than immediate medical intervention.

5. Expedite Review into Adult Gender Services
   ○ Commitment: I pledge to expedite a comprehensive review into adult gender services to address current shortcomings, ensure patient safety, and promote evidence-based practices in the treatment of transgender ideation.

By signing this pledge, I commit to prioritising the well-being and rights of vulnerable adolescents and women in all legislative actions and policies. Together, we can create a safer, more equitable society.
